

Conservation Colleagues

The Jefferson Soil and Water Conservation District “strives to promote wise land-use management through technical and educational services in order to help people conserve and enhance the natural resources base for a better quality of life.”

As an organized subdivision of the State of Ohio, the District provides technical and educational assistance to county landowners and users. The locally elected, five-member board of supervisors oversees the district’s programs, while encouraging neighbors, friends, and family to embrace conservation concepts and practices for a better community and world.

The District provides technical assistance through the lay out and design of conservation practices, erosion control measures, pond design, soils investigations, drainage investigations, grazing and crop land management plans, and agricultural pollution investigations.

The JSWCD provides environmental education through adult and youth scholastic programs, field days, workshops, seminars, and Best Management Practices training. We are seeking affiliate members, or Conservation Colleagues. Conservation Colleagues voluntary, tax-deductible contributions enhance the JSWCD’s educational fund, and inspire informational programs. As an affiliate member, your name will be published in our newsletters, annual report, and our annual meeting program. Such publicity provides honorable recognition for your establishment and/or family. You will also receive a certificate of appreciation, suitable for framing, and will be included on the mailing list for The County Cooperator.

The JSWCD looks forward to recognizing you as a Conservation Colleague. Please send your contribution to the Jefferson SWCD, 131 Main Street Wintersville, Ohio 43953.
